

Acacia Products - quality plastics

Relying on a carefully-selected minimalist palette of materials, the quality and reliability of the supply was a critical path of this high-profile project.

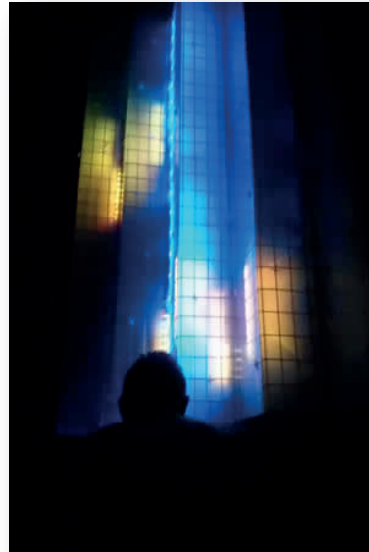

Innovative use of prismatic acrylic

Prismatic and reeded plastics were a key component of this installation artwork for the Vivid 2014 Festival of Light, which resulted in such a scintillating effect when used en masse with the moving programmed lights.

Project Manager and Designer Sue Theron, says "Acacia Products were an important part of our supply-chain. They provided quality K19, K12 and reeded diffuser acrylics. Deadlines were critical, and Acacia provided professional service, going out of their way to ensure our key dates were met. They proved to be a very reliable part of our supply chain, and we appreciated their timely and helpful approach."
